Inox-Pro frying pan 20 centimeter stainless steel induction-ready in satin finish with Fusion® ceramic nonstick coating

The Inox-Pro frying pan by Pujadas serves up incomparable durability and versatility. With a stainless steel sandwich base, featuring an aluminum core, this frying pan provides exceptionally fast heat, even distribution and induction compatibility. The body is made of 18/10-grade stainless steel, so it's incredibly long-lasting, while the satin finish creates a sleek appearance and hides signs of wear. With a PFOA-free Fusion ceramic nonstick coating, this frying pan promises easy release and cleaning for an effortless user experience. The strong tubular handle offers a comfortable, reliable grip, as well as a hole in the end for convenient hanging storage. With its sleek design, this frying pan will look stunning on your gas, vitroceramic, electric or induction range. Fusion is a registered trademark of PPG Industries Ohio, Inc.
